Q.2

(ii)

Ans. (ii) In the poem 'A prayer for my daughter', ~~Robert~~ W.B. Yeats - the poet is praying for his daughter to inculcate some good virtues in herself to dwell in mid of this cruel and hostile world.

He prays that his daughter may be a beautiful girl but without vanity. He thinks that she should not be over-much beautiful because under the intoxication of her beauty, she will take wrong decisions and ruin her life. Some examples are also those to prove this. Maud Gonne, a very beautiful lady rejected the poet as her husband and got married with a drunkard who was a worthless person. She ruined her life and expressed to live a life full of misfortunes. No, he does not want his daughter to possess over beauty.

Ans. (i) Speaker does not want the battle cry to be raised so, he invokes the worldly people to have concord and friendship among them. He firmly denigrates the wars because no matter can be resolved by it and add many more to exacerbate the situations during the wars. Battles are not the solution of intricacies between the countries. During the war, people are greatly influenced and compelled to live under the shade of fear.

These wars <sup>do not</sup> bring serenity, integrity, and unity among the people. They are totally isotherms and left nothing uninfluenced. So, ~~bring~~ peace and prosperity, the battle cry ~~is~~ must not be raised.

Ans. In the poem 'On his being arrived at the age of twenty three', the poet John Milton is blaming the time ~~to~~ for stealing his prime period of life. He has been 23 years old because his semblance ~~justify~~ justifies it but he has not achieved the inner maturity. He has not got enough time to master his poetic talent. This unachieved skill in poetic talent and his inner-maturity deceives the truth.

Que. 6

Ans. (i) In the novel, 'Swami and his friends', R.K.

Narayan has created a character named 'Rajam'. Rajam was the son of superintendent of police. Rajam was transferred to Malgudi from an English school, <sup>of</sup> boys from Madras. Rajam was a brilliant student and also rival of Mani. But, later on, they became friends of each other. One day, Mani and Swami made a plan to go to Rajam's house. They entered Rajam's house and Rajam welcomed them. They were very much impressed with Rajam's qualities and his things which were kept in <sup>an</sup> almirah. Rajam wanted to show off his control and power over his servants to his friends. He asked the cook to make something <sup>delicious</sup> for his friends. He behaved with his cook very rudely. The cook didn't follow him and ~~is~~ threatened to complain about his behaviour to his father.

In my opinion, Rajam was a very rude boy and his behaviour with his cook was not appreciable. This behaviour suggests that he was 'good for nothing' and a proud person. He showed off his power as he was the son of S.P.
