The Importance of Games and Sports

Games and sports are very important part of our world. Physical health of a human is as important as mental health and knowledge. If a person does not do exercise or sports, he has a higher chance of getting infected from various types of disease than the person who takes care of his physical health.

Games and sports are very important for every person but in student's life they play a very important role. The knowledge from books can increase their intelligence but doing physical exercise, games and sports is equally important. No physical exercise can make a student dull. Not every student wants to become doctor or engineer. So performing physical exercise, learning about games and sports from the start can help them know about their passion and practice from the beginning.

Games and sports not only help the students to better their physical health but it also teach them a lot of good things like accepting the challenge, not to lose hope when they don't win because

* 'Elementary School classroom in a Slum' is a very wonderful and famous poem by Stephen Spender based on the theme of social injustice and class inequalities. I think the colour of sour cream is off-white. The poet says that the walls of the classroom are very dirty and stinky and give out badsmell. The poet describes the wall of the classroom very honestly. The poet tells us that there are beautiful pictures on the wall of classroom like the buildings, flowers, toyohese valley, shakespeare and maps but they don't show the reality of the condition of slum children. They are not provided with any modern facilities and these pictures are of no use to them. They are leading a cat and dog life.
